

Tex Mex Connection Adopts Landfill-Free Solution By Hiring Sustainable Waste Solutions

SOUDERTON, PA (January 2011)—Sustainable Waste Solutions (SWS), a landfill-free waste and recycling company, has added pioneer restaurant Tex Mex Connection, located in North Wales, to its customer list. Tex Mex, one of the first Southwestern restaurants in the area, has been serving its community since 1984 and has been active in environmental initiatives since opening. They support local charities and programs that protect our environment, including the North Penn Valley Boys and Girls and the North Penn Library. In 2010, they raised and donated over $100,000 to local organizations and $60,000 of the funds were from their 21ST annual 5K run for open space benefiting the Wissahickon Valley Watershed Association.

Jane Keyes, owner of Tex Mex Connection, stated, “We take pride in serving the community and protecting our environment as demonstrated in our Two-Star Certified Green Restaurant designation. We are excited to join forces with SWS in order to meet our mission of protecting the environment by selecting a landfill-free solution.”
